

OPEN HOUSE SUNDAY—The Kingston-Greene-Pickaway Volunteer Fire Department has scheduled an open house 1 to 4 p.m. Sunday. The building cost $65,000 and was constructed with volunteer labor. It took six years to complete and is valued at $200,000.

Volunteer Firemen Plan Open House

By STEVE JONES
Herald Editor

The Kingston-Greene-Pickaway Volunteer Fire Department has progressed a long way since Jan. 31, 1844, when the first fire company was incorporated in the village of Kingston.

Present members of the volunteer force are holding an open house from 1 to 4 p.m. Sunday so the citizens of the area served may view the department and its equipment.

The fire house is a red brick and block structure located at the corner of Main and Ing Streets in the village, financed by $50,000 from the taxpayers of the community, $15,000 from the fire department treasury and much volunteer labor, both skilled and unskilled.

Adrian McVey, the chief of the department estimates that through the volunteer efforts in construction and donation of materials and building equipment, such as carpet for the meeting room, the department has

FCC Rejects Appeal Over Divestiture

WASHINGTON (AP) — A plea by newspaper publishers that the Federal Communications Commission rescind its decision to force the breakup of seven newspaper-television combinations and nine radio-newspaper combinations was rejected by the FCC Friday.

Among the radio-newspaper combinations for which divestiture was ordered is WFIN-AMFM and the Findlay Republican-Courier in Findlay, Ohio.

The American Newspaper Publishers Association protested that the FCC lacked authority to adopt divestiture rules and that its action is contrary to the public interest.

The ANPA expressed concern that, as existing combinations are sold to separate owners, the public would lose the benefit of the superior service that newspaper-licensed stations now provide.

The FCC replied that it could not assume that a decline of service would result from separation. It said that, in the absence of unusual circumstances, "diversity is the more important point when it can be achieved without hardship or disruption. We believe that the prospective rules will do this."

The commission ordered the breakups last Jan. 28 after a study of all such combinations in the nation. It said it ordered such action "only in extreme situations where they appeared to be a monopoly on the expression of views on issues of public concern."

At the same time, the FCC ruled that newspapers will no longer be allowed to purchase radio or television stations in the same market as the newspaper.

The divestitures were ordered to be completed by Jan. 1, 1980.

Weather

Partly cloudy today and tonight with showers and thundershowers likely, high, upper 70s. Low tonight, mid 60s. High Sunday, low 70s. Probability of precipitation, 70 per cent today and tonight and 20 per cent tomorrow. Temperatures Friday were: high, 81; low, 67.

Most Air To Be Illegal

WASHINGTON (AP) — At midnight tonight the air in most of the United States becomes illegal. It will be cleaner than it used to be, but not so clean as Congress has ordered it to be.

Environmental Protection Administrator Russell E. Train reported Friday that only 89 of the nation's 247 Air Quality Control Regions appear to be in compliance with all of the five antipollution standards legally required by June 1, 1975.

The others appear likely to fall short, in varying degrees, of one or more of the standards for cleaning up airborne smoke and dust, sulfur dioxide, carbon monoxide, smog, and nitrogen dioxide. The passing of the deadline will not spark any sudden crackdown by EPA on polluters, Train said.

But Train said the 1970 Clean Air Act which required the setting of these standards and fixed the mid-1975 deadline has brought about substantial improvements in air quality and paved the way for further progress.

Train has asked Congress to leave the original deadline in place, but to give him greater flexibility in forcing the pace of clean-up efforts.

"The nation has made significant progress in cleaning up the air — there is no doubt about it — but there is still a long way to go," Train told reporters.

For example, Train estimated that emissions of smoke and dust have been reduced by some 79 million tons per year since 1970, with about 13 million tons still to be suppressed.

Out of the target reduction of 25 million tons a year of sulfur oxides, Train said, reductions totaling some 16 million tons have been achieved.

In automobile emissions, he said, the goal was a 65 per cent reduction of hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide in 1972 through 1974 cars, compared to pre-1968 models.

Reductions of 40 per cent were achieved in the 1972 models, 50 per cent in 1973 cars, and 60 per cent in 1974 cars in actual use, Train said.

The goal for 1975 cars has been raised to an 85 per cent reduction.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most metropolitan areas in Ohio are expected to fall short of one or more clean-air standards when the deadline for achieving them passes at midnight

India Set To Continue Atom Tests

MECHANICSBURG, Ohio (AP) — Ambassador William B. Saxbe says India will continue its nuclear weapons testing, but thinks that country's relations with the United States are not seriously jeopardized.

Saxbe, who resigned as U.S. attorney general to accept the appointment as ambassador to India, made the comments while visiting his Ohio home.

The ambassador said there still is friction over policy between the two countries. But he said he maintains a cordial relationship with Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi and other officials, and thinks differences can be resolved.

He also said that India has an emotional stake in continuing the development of nuclear weapons.

"They don't want to express it, but they don't want to be second class," Saxbe said. "There's a lot of pride and emotion (involved in nuclear weapons development). They want to be a first class country, and they think to be a first class country you have to be a nuclear power."

Saxbe downplayed anti-American demonstrations in India.

"We get picketed once a week," he said. "Nobody gets upset, and the police show up and run them off and that's about it."

"They like to try to keep you off balance, if you let them," he said. "They stroke you one day and then you read in the newspaper where they've denounced you."

"When we say something about them, they say, 'We're very sensible and you're not paying attention to our sensibilities.'"

Saturday, the Environmental Protection Agency reports.

The Ohio areas were included in a national list of 247 Air Quality Control Regions issued by the EPA Friday.

Greater Metropolitan Cleveland and the Portsmouth-Ironton regions both have failed to fully control four types of pollution.

For the Cleveland area the types are particulates (smoke and dust), carbon monoxide, photochemical oxidants (smog) and nitrogen oxides.

In the Portsmouth-Ironton region they are particulates, sulfur dioxide, carbon monoxide and photochemical oxidants.

South Central Power Adopts Energy Saving Rate Schedule

In a bold move toward the future, the South Central Power Company today took the initiative among Ohio's electric power companies, in establishing rate revisions and increases aimed at "the allocation of the cost of energy as fairly as we can determine it should be," according to Dane Swinehart, general manager of the locally-owned utility.

"What we are instituting today," said Swinehart, "is a futuristic rate — a rate designed not only for the power requirements of today but of the future as well. It is a rate structure that has, up to now, only been talked about by the nation's power companies, but as far as I know South Central is the first one to put it into practice; certainly we are the first in the state of Ohio."

"The new rate structure is really a unique way of allocating the cost of electric energy. It rewards conservation of power through the innovation of an 'inverted step' rate, whereby the residential user of more than 5000 kilowatt hours per month pays a premium rate; it eliminates incentive rates by abolishing special rates for water heaters; it eliminates class distinctions (except for monthly minimum charges) between rural and incorporated village or town consumers; and it lets the consumer establish and control his own demand for electric power. In effect, it lets the consumer control his own monthly invoicing to a greater degree than ever before."

"We've stopped pondering over the obvious fact that this is what we should do," Swinehart continued, "and we're taking the plunge and doing it now. We feel certain our consumers will support the new rate structure. It will accomplish two things, (1) it will realign the emphasis on power costs, and direct the major costs to those most responsible for them, and (2) it will cause our consumers to utilize the energy they purchase to a greater degree because of the penalties inherent in the 'inverted step' conservation rate."

Asked to explain how the 'inverted step' rate would help conserve power, Swinehart cited figures that showed that South Central consumers used, on an average, 1162 kilowatt hours of energy per month in 1974. "That's roughly an average of about 38 kw per day," he said. "Under the 'inverted step' rate, a consumer could use up to 166 kw per day and still enjoy the optimum rate, but once he exceeded that amount his rate would escalate."

"The rate penalizes the person who does not monitor his usage of energy and rewards the wise user. It does, however, have the advantage of letting the consumer choose his own category. By monitoring his meter and regulating his usage, he can pretty well determine what his monthly bill is

Laos Reds Kill Escapees

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Communist Pathet Lao policemen opened fire Friday on 100 Meo tribesmen trying to flee to Thailand and killed eight of them, reliable government sources reported today.

Some of the hill tribesmen ignored a police order and attempted to cross a bridge over a stream 35 miles north of Vientiane when the Pathet Lao opened up with AK47 rifles, the sources said. Rightist Vientiane-side policemen were present but did not fire their weapons, they said.

The Meos had told nearby villagers they wanted to join their leader, Gen. Vang Pao, who fled to Thailand with thousands of his followers, the sources said.

The general headed a U.S. Central Intelligence Agency-backed mercenary army in the Plain of Jars region of northcentral Laos fighting the Pathet Lao and North Vietnamese.

"We have been with Vang Pao for 20 years, and he is the only one we believe," one would-be escapee reportedly said.

The EPA reported that the Columbus and Dayton areas both have not fully controlled emission of particulates, carbon monoxide and photochemical oxidants.

Metropolitan Cincinnati falls short in particulates, sulfur dioxide and photochemical oxidants.

The Toledo area has problems with particulates and carbon monoxide, according to the report, while still not under control in the Youngstown region are particulates and photochemical oxidants.

Only particulates remain a problem in the Mansfield-Marion, Marietta, Sandusky, Steubenville and Zanesville-Cambridge regions, the EPA said.

The report said the clean-air standards have been met in northwestern Ohio, outside Toledo, and in the Wilmington-Chillicothe-Logan region.

EPA Administrator Russell Train emphasized that the list is only a rough indication, based on data which usually is several months to a year old because of normal delays in reporting and analyzing.

Train also noted that some areas may be much closer to meeting the standards than others, although the list cannot express such differences.

Claim JFK Behind Plot On Castro

WASHINGTON (AP) — Plans for removing Cuban Premier Fidel Castro by any means, including assassination, were developed in response to orders originating with President John F. Kennedy, according to retired Maj. Gen. Edward G. Lansdale.

"I was working for the highest authority in the land," Lansdale said of the secret project which he described as "a feasibility study" of ways to get rid of Castro. "I just wanted to see if the U.S. had any such capabilities," the onetime Air Force officer said Friday in specific reference to assassination.

Lansdale, for years the government's top expert in the field of counterinsurgency, avoided using the word "assassination" and stressed that his study encompassed other means of removing Castro, such as a coup. However, he twice replied affirmatively to the specific question of whether assassination was one of the means involved.

Lansdale also said he knew of no attempts against Castro's life that were initiated as a result of his study.

However, one source familiar with the tentative findings of the Rockefeller Commission, which is investigating alleged CIA involvement in assassination, said he has been told of "two or three" subsequent U.S.-

sponsored efforts to kill Castro.

When Lansdale was assigned the task in 1962, he was listed officially as an assistant to then-Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara. However, Lansdale said that "on that project, I was working for the highest authority in the land." Asked to be more specific, Lansdale replied, "it was the President."

Lansdale said he did not deal directly with President Kennedy but worked through an intermediary. Asked whether the intermediary was McGeorge Bundy, then Kennedy's assistant for national security affairs, Lansdale replied, "No, it was someone much more intimate." He refused to provide the name for the record.

Lansdale said he was assigned to the project in 1962 when the United States first received intelligence that Castro was prepared to install Sovietmade nuclear missiles in Cuba. "It was something that was very closely held then and still is," he said.

Last week, The Associated Press identified Lansdale as the author of an August 1962 memo which informed sources said provided the CIA with authority to develop contingency plans for the assassination of Castro.

Lansdale maintained, as he had last week, that he did not remember the memo, but he acknowledged that it would not have been "incompatible" with his assigned task.

Unemployment Hurts Economic Upturn

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agreement is now fairly widespread that the economic upturn next year, while nothing to shout about, will be better than sluggish.

That and other pieces of the nation's economic outlook for the next 18 months are beginning to fall into place, with some key pieces provided by President Ford's economic and budget review Friday.

There is reluctant agreement that the nation's unemployment rate will continue alarmingly high at least through 1976, and probably beyond.

The rate of inflation is coming under control more rapidly than the administration had forecast previously, but still will be higher than Americans had been used to before the big price boom in 1973.

And fears of "crowding out" — the expression used when government borrowing diverts money from private borrowing — appear to have largely dissipated in recent weeks as both long and short-term interest rates have declined.

In its mid-year economic and budget review, the Ford administration said the economy should grow at a rate of 6.3 per cent next year, a significant improvement over the official 4.8 per cent forecast made in February.

Chairman Alan Greenspan of the President's Council of Economic Advisers said Friday he expects a return to economic growth by the third quarter of this year, if not the second quarter.

The unemployment outlook is the grimmest statistic of all. The President's revised forecast projected average unemployment this year at 8.7 per cent, up from its February forecast of 8.1 per cent. The average jobless rate for next year was projected at 7.9 per cent, which translates into 7.1 million unemployed workers.

Inflation, as measured by the increase in consumer prices, is expected to ease to 7.8 per cent this year, down from 12.2 per cent in 1974, and to 5.8 per cent in 1976. That's better than earlier forecasts.

In other economic developments: —Chrysler Corp. said it is extending a price rebate program through June on some models. The firm said $200 rebates will be granted to purchasers of compact Darts and Valiants, the Dodge Sportsman or Tradesman vans and the Plymouth Voyager. The purchased model must be in stock to qualify for the discount.

—The Agriculture Department said the prices farmers receive for raw agricultural products jumped 5 per cent from April 15 to May 15.

—The Treasury Department announced it will auction off 500,000 ounces of government gold on June 30. Officials said the auction was scheduled because of rising imports of gold.

Teacher Killed In Auto Crash
BENTONVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A 32-year-old North Adams County high school teacher was killed Friday on his way to school when his car collided head-on with a dump truck, authorities said.

The Manchester man was identified as Ron Beasley, head baseball coach at North Adams Adams County High School.

The early-morning accident occurred on Ohio 41.

The 71-year-old driver of the truck was hospitalized with undisclosed injuries.

County 4-H Club News

NATURE SEEKERS

By Steve Fraim

The seventh meeting of the Nature Seekers 4-H Club was held recently. David Windon, Clarks Lakes, was welcomed as a new member.

The club advisor, Mrs. John Fraim, announced that written reports on the '76 bicentennial Indian village projects must be completed within two meetings.

A gun safety demonstration will be held at the next meeting June 10 at the home of the adviser, Mrs. John Fraim.

Ramblin Riders

By Patricia Stiles

The Ramblin Riders held a meeting on May 13 at Hedges Chapel Church. The grading system that will be used at the fair was discussed.

The club was guests of The Jockey Club recently and viewed the races at Beulah Park Race Track. Members attended Rural Life Sunday at Hedges Chapel Church, then enjoyed a family picnic and a horse workout at the Waldens.

Jill Glick, Linda Walden, Jim Walden, Patricia Stiles, and Judy Walden represented the club at the All American Youth Show.

Pickaway Hot Wheels

By Jerry Cordell

The club held a meeting on May 20 at Pickaway School. Members went over parts of the bicycle and signs of life.

Steve Bartels, 4-H Agent, was present and told members about the judging at the fair and 4-H camp. Lori Miller and Susan Stroup served refreshments.

Logan Elm Fashionettes

By Marlane Stulley

The Logan Elm Fashionettes held a meeting on May 13 at Logan Elm Park. Outdoor cookery members held a cookout. Twelve members were present.

The next meeting will be June 10 at 1 p.m. at Logan Elm High School.

Walnut Porkers

By Diana Seitz

The Walnut Porkers held a meeting on May 19 at Walnut School. A health report was given by Tim Theado and a safety report was given by Tom Pontius. Scott Harmount talked about 4-H camp.

Refreshments were served by Dave Gibbs and Dave Barr.

The next meeting will be June 9 at 8:30 p.m. at Walnut School.

Saltcreek Sew and Serve

By Donna Hupp

The club held a meeting on May 19 at Logan Elm High School. Demonstrations were given by Abby and Joan Bowman on how to adjust your pattern, Donna and Teresa Hupp on how to lay a pattern and Judy Reichelderfer on how to fit a pattern.

Cancer drive money was collected and members reminded to pay their dues. Abby Bowman and Tammy Ross led recreation.

Refreshments were served by Judy, Kathy and Beth Reichelderfer, Tami Young, Cheryl Johnston, Jane Eberhart, Tammy Moss, Deanna Pierce and Tawna Reichelderfer.

The next meeting will be June 2 at 3:10 p.m. at Logan Elm High School.

Friends of the Nematodes

By Cheryl Feby

Members attended a meeting at the Circleville Veterinary Clinic on May 20. Money making projects and the fair booth were discussed. Members told what they saw at the Zoo and the Ohio State Veterinary Clinic.

Crafty Creators

By Craig Kaiser

The club met on May 15 at Madison School. Decoupage projects were worked on. 4-H camp, a skating party with the Madison Livewire and our community project was discussed.

Refreshments were served by Miss Nancy and Sue Sherman.

The next meeting will be June 5 at 9:30 a.m. at Madison School.

Walnut Whirl Wins

By Susan Van Pelt

The Walnut Whirl Wins Club held a meeting on May 19 at Walnut School. Reports were given by Lori Shannon on feeding of sheep, Tandra Van Pelt on breaking of a steer, Peggy Derflinger and Wayne Shannon on safety.

Members will go to see the Freedom Train on May 31, have a bake sale on June 7 and make a radio show on May 24.

Refreshments were served by Jean and Shelly Bushee.

The next meeting will be June 9 at 7:30 p.m. at Walnut School.

Orient Road Runners

By Randy Woods

The club met on May 26 at the Orient United Methodist Church. Demonstrations were given by Sara Soforenko on personalizing your bike, Charles Griffith on putting on a headlight, Sue Chancey on taking care of your bike and Michelle Reese on first aid. Kenneth Eyerman gave a safety talk.

LE Graduate Is County Beef Queen

MARY BETH EVANS

Mary Beth Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. David Evans, Route 4, has been selected Pickaway County Beef Queen by the Pickaway County Cattlemen's Association.

Mary Beth will represent Pickaway County in the state contest held as a part of the Ohio Cattlemen's Summer Roundup August 11, at Wooster.

Mary Beth, a 1975 graduate of Logan Elm High School, was active in school activities. They included cheerleader, GAA, Student Council, Vice President of junior class and student of the month. She is also a member of the Pickaway Swine and Dairy and Logan Elm Fashionettes 4-H clubs.

And So It Grows

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent
Agriculture

Too Dry, Too Wet?

Parts of the state are going through 3 or more dry weeks of weather, and gardens in these dry areas are beginning to suffer. On the other hand, some areas have received 2 or more inches of rainfall in the past few days, with moisture conditions great for gardening, if soils are well drained.

Should you be in the dry sections and haven't planted your garden seeds, better plant them a little deeper than normal or water the garden with about an inch of water once each week.

To irrigate your garden 1 inch, measure the amount applied. You can do this by placing tin cans in several places in the garden. Then measure the amount of water collected in the cans, according to Gene Wittmeyer, Extension Horticulturist at The Ohio State University.

Transplants need additional water when you set them to insure rate of survival.

Of course, nothing is as good as a slow rain to make your garden go, but sprinkling at least an inch of water per week sure beats none at all.

Fruit Trees

Fruit trees are loaded in most of Ohio this year. So be sure to follow a regular spray program for insect and disease control. Schedules call for insecticide and fungicide sprays every 7 to 14 days. You'll need to get a copy of Extension Leaflet 1 from your county agent to find out the chemicals to use and when and how much to apply.

The same is true for your vegetable garden. Bulletin 498, Control of Home Garden Insects, is also available through your county agent.

Transplants

Nurseries and garden centers are over run with people buying flower and vegetable garden plants.

Be sure to select healthy plants that have been kept in good condition. Then set them in a protected area that gets morning sun and keep them watered until you are ready to set them in their permanent growing place.

Transplants may survive a wilting or two, but wilting doesn't do them any good, so keep them "starchy" until planted and then water until rains come.

A good mulch of clean straw, shredded bark, etc. placed 2 or 3 inches deep in your flower beds or around your vegetable plants will keep the soil from drying out too fast and it aids in controlling weeds, too.

Expert Wheat Combining Pays

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

The operator who does an "expert" job of combining wheat this year can be worth $20.00 per hour more than an average combine operator, says Delbert M. Byg, Extension Agricultural Engineer of The Ohio State University.

Expert combine operators are able to keep machine losses to about 1 per cent of yield, Byg says. The average operator loses about 6.5 per cent of yield, due to improper adjustment or operation of the grain combine.

With wheat at $3.00 per bushel and combines capable of harvesting 3 acres per hour, in 40-bushel per acre wheat, being an expert operator amounts to $19.80 per hour. Byg says this is a pretty good incentive for an operator to do his best job. There's another incentive, too, he says. Every extra bushel saved is usually clear profit, because no extra expense is required in doing an expert job over the average job other than putting some key practices to work.

In listing these key practices, Byg says (1) know where to expect grain losses, (2) know how to quickly measure these losses, (3) know losses to expect from different components of your combine when doing an expert job of combining, and (4) know machine adjustments and operating practices that will give the least losses. Following are sources of loss and loss levels to look for as you combine your wheat.

Cutterbar or header loss equals 0.2 bushels per acre. This type of loss is usually the largest for the average operator and may exceed 1 bushel per acre, Byg says.

Cylinder loss or unthreshed heads equal 0.2 bushels per acre. Do not try to reduce this loss to zero, as over-threshing will cause rack and shoe losses to increase.

Rack loss equals 0.1 bushel per acre. Shoe loss equals 0.1 bushel per acre.

Rack and shoe losses may be much higher due to overloading this part of the combine. Watch height of cut, ground speed and weed problem.

A quick, easy method for measuring losses is to make a harvest loss count at the rear of the combine cross the full swath cut made by the machine. An average of 20 wheat grains per square foot of area represents a loss of about 1 bushel per acre. To aid in this count, the engineer suggests making a rope frame for enclosing 10 square feet of area with the long dimension equal to the width of the header. Tape large nails to the rope to make the 10 square feet rectangular in shape. Then place this rope frame at the rear of the machine across the swath just harvested. Count all grains of wheat on the grounds inside the frame. If you count 20 wheat grains or less, you're doing quite well, Byg says. But, if loss counts are 400 or 600 grains per 10 square feet, you know your losses are 2 to 3 bushels per acre and improvements can be made.

Once you know how to measure losses, you can quickly evaluate adjustments and operating practices that produce the least loss.

New Grain Storage System Explained By USDA Official

"The new offer rate system for handling and storing government owned or extended-loan commodities is a mutual effort with warehousemen to meet the criticism and problems inherent in present uniform storage agreement arrangements," Glenn A. Weir, Associate Administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization Service (ASCS), said at a recent grain and feed dealers convention.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) offer system, scheduled to go into effect July 1, 1975, could involve different rates from as many as 6,000 commercial warehouses. Forms to tender offers were sent in April to warehouses storing grain, rice, honey, bulk oils, and foundation seeds. The offer rate system for cotton will be effective Oct. 1. Weir said that the offer system for processed commodities has been in effect for some years.

"The new system is a closer and better relationship between the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC), Weir said. Each warehouseman will have freedom to operate his business under market oriented conditions.

Under the new system, warehousemen will offer daily rates at which they will store and handle CCC-owned or extended-loan grain & other specified commodities. "It will be an individual, straight-line commercial operation," Weir said. The new system was developed with participation by the trade, to correct certain inequities in the present storage agreement arrangement.

The Agriculture official said the prerequisite for setting rates no longer can rest with CCC. "Under the new system," Weir said, "CCC will be no different than any other customer of the warehouse." Responsibility and control for establishing rates will rest with the warehousemen.

"Rates offered for storage & handling cannot be rejected by CCC," Weir explained. Each warehouseman must warrant that the rates offered are not in excess of those charged other customers for the same service. In some cases a higher rate may be reflected if the government requires extra services not normally a part of the warehouseman's tariff. This would be an exception, fully substantiated to the required warrant, Weir said.

The schedule of rates will be in effect until July 1, 1976. New rates, if they are to be submitted for the following calendar year, must be submitted at least 30 days prior to the renewal date of the agreement.

"The new offer rate must be stated on a thousandth of a cent-per-bushel per-day basis." Examples of conversion from annual and monthly to daily bushel rates were sent to warehousemen in April. Receiving and loadout charges on grain must be stated on a cents-per-bushel basis.

"We recognize fully that the new offer schedule of rates is a departure from the system basically in effect since 1940, and that some difficulty may exist in converting to a daily basis. Working together, I am certain the new system will benefit all," Weir concluded.

Guidelines For ACP Program Announced

The Pickaway County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) reports information about basic guidelines that farmers should consider when planning to participate in the 1975 cost sharing Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP).

Both annual and long term agreements are available now. A continuous sign up for annual practices will be conducted through out the year—Long term agreements must be applied for by June 16, 1975.

"The value and success of the ACP rests upon sound planning," Roy Dunkle, county committee chairman said. "Each farmer should consider developing a conservation plan providing an analysis of the conservation needs of all parts of his farm. Such plans may be obtained through USDA's Soil Conservation Service (SCS). Farmers should then call or visit the county ASCS Office about the practice or practices he or she chooses to undertake this year."

Dunkle said whether the necessary machinery, fertilizer, or other materials are available are important considerations in deciding which practices the farmer will put into effect. The ASCS Office will endeavor to be of assistance where possible.

Any farmer interested in establishing any of the following practices on their farm should come to the ASCS Office for sign up in the program before starting the practice. They are: Establishing Permanent Vegetative Cover; Improving Permanent Vegetative Cover; Tree Planting; Improving a Stand of Forest Trees; Water Impoundment Reservoirs; Stripcropping; Diversions; Streambank Stabilization; Permanent Wildlife Habitat; Structures; Sod Waterways; Windbreaks; Vegetative Cover in Crop Rotation; Lime; Livestock Spring & Pipelines; Open Drainage; Underground Drainage; Land Shaping; Improvement of Wildlife Habitat; and Animal Waste Storage.

Cost share rates range from 50 per cent to 75 per cent and the specific amount to be approved for a practice is determined by the county ASC committee.

Guard Against Stored Insects

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Prepare storage facilities now for handling newly harvested grains. Nothing is more discouraging than to harvest a bumper crop of quality grains and later suffer insect damage in the storage bins, says William F. Lyon, Extension Entomologist at The Ohio State University.

It is estimated that Ohio farmers lose at least $10 million each year due to insect pests in stored grain. Insects can hollow-out the grain, destroy the germ and cause "hot areas," resulting in spoilage and fungus growth. It takes a good management program to reduce damage from these stored grain pests, he says. The following measures are recommended, the specialist adds.

Build or use well-constructed storage facilities. Avoid storing grain in buildings that house hay, straw, feed, or animals. Such buildings constitute a constant source of pest feeding and pest reproduction. Provide an easy way to inspect and sample grains.

Clean out the storage bins. Sweep down the bin ceiling, walls, and floor. Remove old grain and dust left from the previous year. Be sure to clean up any spilled grain outside or under the bin. Do not overlook feed accumulations in other areas on the farm such as truck beds, old machinery, etc. If it is not feasible to remove existing old grains, use an insecticide grain treatment of malathion — premium grade; Cythion, pyrethrins with piperonyl butoxide; methoxychlor; or fumigate before new grains are added. Always follow the label directions and precautions. Fumigation should be done by trained experienced operators working in pairs.

Apply a residual spray to empty bins. After the bins have been cleaned and repaired, spray the ceiling, walls, and floor at least 2 weeks before storing grain. Apply malathion — premium grade, or methoxychlor to the point of run-off. Then let the bin dry thoroughly before adding new grain. Follow label recommendations.

Store only dry, clean, sound grains. Any grain stored above 12 per cent moisture content is susceptible to heating, fungus growth, and stored grain insect infestation. The drier the grain the longer it can be stored safely. Excessive cracked grains attract insects more readily.

Treat grain going into storage. After the bin or storage area has been thoroughly cleaned and treated, one can go one step further to protect grain against insects by spraying, or dusting the grain stream going into the storage area. Again, labeled formulations of malathion, methoxychlor, or pyrethrins may be used — After the bin is filled, treat the grain surface thoroughly to discourage insect infestations.

Inspect grain at frequent intervals. Check grain every 30 days, especially during the warm summer and autumn months. Determine the insect infestation by taking the grain temperature and by visual inspection of the grain.

For additional information regarding control of stored grain insects, consult your county Extension agent, agriculture, and request Extension leaflet L-153, 1975, "Stored Grain Insect Control."

Dear Mrs. G. Arden

Dear Mrs. G. Arden:

What pesticide would I use to control insects on my green beans. The leaves have tiny holes in them and little black bugs on them. I also have a rabbit problem.

Signed,
MIKE WARD

Dear Mike:

Use Sevin pesticide for the green beans. You probably have flea beetles on your plants. Follow the directions carefully and have your parents help you handle the bug-killer. To control the rabbits, try sprinkling some moth balls or crystals around the cabbage and lettuce. Rabbits hate the smell and will stay away. If this doesn't work, let me know and I'll send you a pamphlet on controlling rabbits.

Mrs. G. ARDEN

Congratulations to Ralph Mets and Regina Woods, our first "Gardeners of the Week."

News For Homemakers

The next meeting will be June 3 at 7 p.m. at Arnolds.

Elm Village area this week. They want to start a homemakers club especially involving mothers of young children who are interested in improving home-making skills and sharing talents. They will meet again on the evening of June 19 7 p.m. at the home of Barbara Welch, 222 Mingo Street. Give Barbara a call at 474-7347 if you are interested.

Don't forget I will be testing pressure canners and presenting canning information at Clark's Lake Community Center this Wednesday evening. Testing begins at 5 p.m., lesson at 7:30 p.m.

I've noticed a lot of nostalgic wicker furniture and accessories in stores lately. "Wicker" refers to a variety of vines, grasses and plants that are woven into quite durable and unique furniture pieces. There are four major types of wicker furniture: rattan, reed, willow and bamboo. Do you know about these?

Rattan is a vine that grows up to 600 feet long in the jungles of Indonesia and Africa. It is strong and may be bent into intricate, lacy patterns.

Reed refers to a variety of tall, slender, grassy plants; some more sturdy than others.

Willow is a plant that comes from Europe and northern United States. It retains its natural moisture, which makes it long-lasting.

Bamboo, from tropical Asia, is a grass. It is easily identifiable by its joints and hollowness. Strong for its weight, bamboo is, however, subject to splitting.

When choosing wicker, look for quality. The frame should be sturdy and smooth with no hairy fibers visible. Clear, even color and tightly-wrapped joints and corners are marks of high quality material. Keep in mind that delicate open-work, even of high quality, will not be as durable as closely-woven designs. Inspect the frame carefully, turning the furniture over, if necessary. Anything for seating needs to be sturdy, with seat framing parts at least one inch thick. Decoratively, wicker is very versatile.

Wicker is easily cleaned in spite of dust-catching open-work. Dusting with a long-bristled soft brush or vacuuming with a soft brush attachment is the general treatment needed. Spills should be taken care of promptly before material hardens or stains by wiping with a sponge wrung from sudsy water.

Wicker likes humidity, since it is a product of natural materials. It is not outdoor furniture. Rain, direct sunlight and dew are damaging. It may be used on a sheltered porch or patio that is protected from weather.

On the other hand, the dry heat indoors dries wicker out causing it to crackle and creak under pressure. This can be avoided by wiping the pieces occasionally with a damp cloth or sponge. Take care not to penetrate the weave or wet the frame.

From time to time, a more thorough cleaning is necessary, reports the Soap and Detergent Association. First, vacuum away loose dirt. Prepare a sudsy solution of detergent or soap and water. Skim the suds off onto a damp cloth or sponge and apply to the furniture working on a small portion at a time. Use a small brush to coax dirt from crevices and open-work.

Varnish or lacquer can be applied to wicker from time to time. There is also a new process that coats rattan with clear vinyl and provides higher durability. Preserve the sheen on lacquered, varnished and paint finished wicker with an occasional waxing. Be sure surface is dry before applying wax.

People Helping People

By STEVE BARTELS
County Extension Agent,
4-H

One of the main purposes of the 4-H program is to help youth grow and mature as individuals. It gives them the opportunity to learn. To learn about themselves, others around them and about their project area.

The best way to learn about yourself is to participate in activities. What are your likes and abilities? A very good way to find out the answer to this question is to give a speech. It may be just a minute or two long in front of your 4-H club or it may be at the county safety speaking contest.

The safety speaking contest will be held this year at the 4-H and Grange Building on Thursday June 26 at 6:30 p.m. It is divided into junior and senior divisions. Members who are 14 years old or older are in the senior division and those 13 and under are in the junior division. Last year Sue Milburn won the senior division in our county and went on to win the state contest. She won a trip to the National Club Congress in Chicago this last December by being the state winner.

You can see that there are great rewards possible by competing in the contest. Not only do you help your club in the honor club system, you help yourself by finding out your speaking abilities and possibly winning the contest.

Sew: It's Summer

By JILL HOFFMAN

Extension Program Assistant

Styles this season help make the summer fun and exciting. A touch of sewing experience is enough to create comfortable and easy to care for outfits. A great way to cool down the summer sun would be to wear a bare lightweight sundress. Choose a simple pattern, eye your way through a fabric shop and you're bound to see something you like. Choice of color is important! It can subconsciously pick up your spirits and at the same time compliment your new bronze complexion. Not only should you be happy with the color of fabric you choose, but be happy with the fabric's fiber content.

This is the secret that leads to easy care instructions. A cotton with a polyester blend, would handle beautifully with this type of pattern. The addition of polyester with the cotton eliminates one step, ironing, the dreaded chore of any lady. We want to be happy; choosing this fabric would minimize our daily work load. Remember, summer is fun! Choose simple patterns and easy to care for fabrics and you should have luck with summer sewing.

Military Stores Criticized

Back in the days when the military services had a large number of conscripts and the pay was low, various fringe benefits were offered to make serving in uniform a little less damaging financially. But with the introduction of the all-volunteer services—and a considerable elevation in pay scales—are all the fringe benefits still justified?

The President took action on one benefit when he announced a cut-off in eligibility for Vietnam-era veterans programs. The General Accounting Office, Congress' auditing arm, has taken aim at another—military commissary stores.

In reporting to Congress on the commissaries, GAO investigators said the cut-rate stores serving only active and retired military personnel should be banned in metropolitan areas of the United States. The auditors gave two reasons: locations in metropolitan areas violated congressional intent that the stores all be located at remote stations, and "commercial food stores in metropolitan areas are very competitive and operate on a low profit margin."

Noting that the military services want to retain the commissaries, the GAO investigators simply reported to the lawmakers: "Congress may want to consider whether it wishes to allow DOD (Department of Defense) to continue to operate commissary stores in competition with commercial grocery stores at added expense to the taxpayer."

Those Who Don't Care

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — Some random thoughts as the nation approaches its glorious Bicentennial:

About 50,000 Americans will commit suicide during the year, according to a little-known but obviously important organization named the American Association of Suicidology.

The association headquarters is located in Los Angeles, inevitably enough. California rates No. 1 in many fields of U.S. endeavor and achievement. Now still another. Students of suicide say it's the only state that seems to give a damn about what has become one of the leading causes of death in the nation—right up with heart, cancer, drugs, the automobile, motorcycle, and booze. California feels a need to keep accurate suicide records.

The statistics are increasingly morbid, particularly those related to women.

The suicide rate for women almost doubled in California over a ten-year period, far outstripping the increase for California men. In 1960, 1,715 California men and 787 women were reported as suicides; in 1970 the figures were 2,300 men and 1,444 women.

Why?

Well, one expert suggests that women's new passion for recognition and success has increased their pressures and opened more possibilities for failure.

Most people who take their lives are inclined to gab about it from time to time before the big decision, shrilly or laconically. Friend of mine once had a nutty girl friend who kept threatening him with suicide if he didn't marry her. To make her point more graphic, she would open the window of the New York apartment they shared, back up to the opposite wall, and then plunge toward the open window as if about to dive into a swimming pool. My friend blocked her a dozen times. But then one night he got a bit tired of the grim charade and stepped aside. He lived happily ever after.

Then there was a man named John Warde who stood on a ledge high on the wall of New York's Gotham Hotel for hours, while friends, priests, psychologists, firemen and others implored him not to go through with the terrible deed. Finally, a brave plainclothesman crawled out on the ledge to within a few feet of the man.

"I understand you're a baseball fan," he said to Warde. "So am I. Come back inside and we'll go over to Ebbets Field and see the Brooklyn Dodgers play."

"I'd rather jump," Warde said. And did.

(The Dodgers later moved to Los Angeles.)

The American Association of Suicidology has some suggestions to friends and families of would-be suicides: "Call the family physician and clergyman, phone the nearest mental health clinic, contact a suicide prevention center."

The latter perhaps may be found in the Yellow Pages.

When the Founding Fathers went through with their conspiracy against George III they could not have conceived that 200 years later the following would happen:

— The U.S. Would lose a war to a then Chinese province named Vietnam;

— We would apologize to the King of Siam for using one of his airbases (airbases?) to help recapture a container ship (container ship?) from pirates from Bambodia (Cambodia?);

— New York, the rich Tory capital, would go broke;

— A successor to George Washington would be exiled to San Clemente, California. (California?);

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Four years after being conceived more in frustration than hope, the Public Equity Corp. is about to emerge into the world of business, a little corporate brat with a barbed stinger.

Public Equity hopes to make a living suing other corporations, especially through triple-damage antitrust suits. It plans to gather data on the system's malfunctions. It hopes to support consumer suits.

"It's overriding aim," says its initiators, "is to assist corporations, governmental agencies and institutions to become more open, rational and responsive to citizens' needs."

Barring unforeseen delays, and there have been many, Public Equity hopes to receive clearance June 9 from the Securities and Exchange Commission to seek $2.4 million in public financing.

Thereafter it would be run like any other corporation. It will have officers and directors, a product — public service — and it will seek a profit. If it is successful it will, in effect, put the public interest law movement on a business basis.

"In the past," says Thomas Mechling, the president and the man largely credited with sparking the idea, "a public interest lawyer had the option of selling out to a law firm or a corporation, or else existing in a storefront office."

Foundations were the sole source of support, and they were unreliable. "They're not in the business of long-term financing," says Mechling, adding: "It's impossible to make long-range plans on short-term financing."

After gathering some funds for an initial plausibility study, Mechling and his friends, some of them associated with Ralph Nader and all concerned with provoking more public interest from government and business, decided on Public Equity.

The company is based on the concept of improving the system from within, of working with the system to improve the system. While that seems innocent enough, somehow it never had been tried.

In fact, there was widespread feeling among lawyers up to a couple of years ago that such a technique for furthering the public good must be illegal. The SEC found the issue particularly ticklish since it had little precedent to guide it. And many people still feel Public Equity is radically un-American.

Mechling maintains it is as American as any other reputable corporation. "We're back to the real revolution," he states, "a revolution that was taken away in the days of the Robber Barons."

Antitrust legislation in the late 19th and early 20th century tried to restore some equilibrium of power between buyer and seller, says Mechling, but then, he feels, the cost of putting antitrust into action negated the attempt.

"We want to restore individual responsibility," he states. "Public Equity will be a channel for citizens, banded together, to communicate their will." It will, he continues, help make the system work the way it was intended to work for the public good.

4 Men Arrested For Robbery

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Police officers and FBI agents arrested four Columbus men Friday on charges stemming from the March 5 robbery of a north side office of the Ohio Federal Savings and Loan Association.

Keith L. Collins, 20, was charged with armed bank robbery. The others, Larry R. Holley, 23, Anthony Stone, 27, and Booker T. Bullock, 27, were charged with conspiracy to rob the institution.

The four were taken before U.S. Magistrate Mark Abel, who set bond at $50,000 for Collins and $25,000 for the others, and were lodged in the Franklin County Jail.

A woman employee of the savings and loan office was shot and seriously wounded during the holdup.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, May 31, the 151st day of 1975. There are 214 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1910, the Union of South Africa was founded.

On this date —

In 1889, more than 2,000 lives were lost in a flood at Johnstown, Pa.

In 1916, British and German fleets fought in the Battle of Jutland off Denmark. It was the only major engagement between the two fleets in World War I.

In 1943, in World War II, the French naval squadron at Alexandria, Egypt joined the Allies.

In 1962, former Nazi Adolf Eichmann was executed in Israel after his capture in Argentina and trial on charges of war crimes.

Ten years ago: Civil rights demonstrations were banned in Bogalusa, La. after two days of street fighting.

Five years ago: In South Vietnam, enemy troops which had seized part of the resort city of Dalat slipped past an encircling force and escaped.

One year ago: The U.S. Supreme Court agreed to make a quick decision on whether President Richard Nixon could withhold evidence of possible crimes from the Watergate prosecutor, Leon Jaworski.

Today's birthdays: Prince Rainier of Monaco is 52. Profootball quarterback Joe Namath is 32. Churchman Normal Vincent Peale is 77.

Thought for today: A moment's insight is sometimes worth a life's experience. — Oliver Wendell Holmes, American scholar and writer, 1809-1894.

Bicentennial footnote: It was 200 years ago today that a convention in Mecklenburg County, N. Car. passed resolutions declaring that English royal authority was "wholly suspended" in the American Colonies.

"Here comes the part I was telling you about!"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

From the moment of birth, time becomes man's measuring device for growth and accomplishment.

Time is identified with birthdays, anniversaries and special occurrences. Time is identified, too, with unhappy experiences.

One of the most significant of these unhappy experiences relates to the time a man "had his coronary."

"I gave up smoking when I had my coronary," "I began to take off weight when I had my coronary," "I gave up playing handball when I had my coronary," "I stopped working till all hours of the night when I had my coronary," "I reduced the pressures in my office when I had my coronary," "When I had my coronary I learned that I was expendable and I could assign others to do some of my jobs."

These characteristic expressions indicate a time of rebirth, having survived the impact of a heart attack.

And rightfully, "my coronary" should be an important milestone because, in many instances, a new lease on life has been granted to those who were desperately sick.

Today's attitude towards preventive medicine is aimed at avoiding a first heart attack, rather than preventing another. Physicians everywhere recognize how difficult it is to put sanity and moderation into the lives of men whose personal habits are so ingrained that they have "no time for such nonsense."

Thousands of lives might be spared if these same people would readjust their lives so that the expression, "When I had my coronary" could be changed to "I'm planning to avoid a coronary."

It is particularly sad when someone who has survived a coronary heart attack blocks out the memory of it and returns to his former patterns of behavior.

Recently, a patient sat in my office and asked me to congratulate him because that day was the fifth anniversary of "his coronary." At the same moment that he asked for congratulations he lit a cigarette. On the anniversary of his coronary he was setting the stage for his next one.

Recipients of the Most Valuable Player Awards for their respective sports at Circleville High School were Chet Iery, baseball; Chuck Smith, golf; and Jim Wood, track. The awards were presented at the annual spring sports banquet held at the high school.

Tom Elsea, 1371 N. Court St., was one of five persons receiving a Good Samaritan award at the annual Council Industrial Awards banquet in Ross County. He was credited with rescuing two persons trapped in a tree along the Scioto River near Yellowbud during the spring floods of March 1964.

Teays Valley hosted their first Invitational Track Meet with 10 teams competing in the event.

Rebecca Alkire, Logan Elm junior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Alkire, Route 1, was crowned 1965 Miss Dance-O-Rama to serve as a hostess on the popular television program.

Warren Commission In Dark On Plot

WASHINGTON (AP) — The CIA and the Justice Department withheld information about CIA involvement in attempts to assassinate Fidel Castro from members of the Warren Commission investigating President John F. Kennedy's death, according to knowledgeable sources.

Two former officials of the Central Intelligence Agency who acknowledged that the Warren Commission never was told about a 1961 plot on the Cuban premier's life insisted that no conscious decision was made to withhold the information. Instead, they contend it never occurred to anyone at the CIA that the Kennedy assassination could have been ordered by Castro in retaliation for U.S.-sponsored attempts on his life.

Both John J. McCloy, a former member of the Warren Commission, and Secretary of Transportation William T. Coleman, who as an attorney for the commission was responsible for investigating the possibility that Lee Harvey Oswald was part of a foreign conspiracy, confirmed that they had not been told of any CIA plots against Castro at the time of their investigation.

Both men refused to speculate on what effect, if any, knowledge of such a plot would have had on the investigation, which concluded that there was no credible evidence linking Oswald to a conspiracy.

The information withheld concerned a 1961 plot against Castro involving contacts between the CIA and mobsters Sam Giancana and John Roselli.

The existence of that plot has been confirmed by two high intelligence sources, and several other news organizations have reported that the Rockefeller Commission possesses Justice Department documents, one reportedly written by former FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, which also confirm the existence of the Giancana-Roselli plot.

The sources describe the plot as having originated in the Eisenhower administration and designed to coincide with the 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion.

Although Castro has stated publicly he was aware of CIA plots against his life, there is no independent evidence indicating that he knew about the Giancana-Roselli plot at the time of the Kennedy assassination.

One source has said that the plot never got past the planning stage, but columnist Jack Anderson has reported that Roselli made a number of unsuccessful attempts on Castro's life.

South Africa Challenged On Election

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Black African nations have challenged South Africa to permit United Nations-supervised elections throughout the diamond-rich territory of South-West Africa.

The Africans on Friday accused the government of Prime Minister John Vorster of flouting a U.N. Security Council ultimatum that South Africa declare by May 30 its readiness to end its rule of more than half a century over the territory, which the United Nations calls Namibia.

Vorster's white minority government did not comply with the precise terms of the ultimatum, approved unanimously by the council Dec. 17.

But some delegates said it had been more conciliatory than expected.

The debate on South-West Africa is expected to focus mainly on what new measures of persuasion the council can apply.

The proposal for Namibia-wide elections under U.N. supervision will figure in backstage negotiations on a new Security Council resolution, a qualified source said.

In his reply to the council ultimatum, Vorster said: "We ... do not claim for ourselves one single inch of South-West Africa's soil ... it is my position that nothing will occur in the territory which is not in accordance with the free choice of its population groups."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger has been urged by a group of Michigan congressmen to cancel a plan that would move a Defense Department agency from Detroit to Cleveland.

Michigan's two senators and eight House members joined in the plea that Schlesinger cancel plans to merge the Detroit and Cleveland offices of the Defense Contract Administration Services. Both would be operated out of the Cleveland office.

The Michigan congressmen told Schlesinger that "we have been convinced that all of the alternatives to this merger were not thoroughly examined." They claimed that the merger would have adverse effects on the economy of Detroit and the state of Michigan.

They said that 391 jobs in Detroit would be lost by March 1, 1976, when the relocation is scheduled to be completed.

Chamber Of Commerce Holds CHS Career Day

Circleville High School's sophomores and juniors had an opportunity this week to obtain first-hand information concerning career fields in which they were interested. The high school guidance department and the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce secured consultants to make presentations in 13 career areas corresponding to the career clusters identified by the U.S. Department of Labor which includes virtually all occupations.

Students were asked to indicate their first and second choices of career areas they wished to attend. They were scheduled for two career sessions corresponding to their choices plus a general session dealing with employment opportunities and prospects, job applications, business atmosphere and economic factors affecting employment.

Participating as consultants for the various career clusters were: Industrial Production, Harold Pontious, Columbus Industries; Office Occupations, John Farthing, Attorney; and Chris Shuter, First National Bank; Service Occupations, Ed Ebert, Circleville Safety Director, Harry Payne, Circleville Postmaster, and Sue Moore, Ohio State School of Cosmetology; Education and Related Occupations, Walter Heischman, Capital University, and Joanne Wolford, Ohio University-Lancaster; Sales Occupations, Tom Elsea, Elsea, Inc., Construction Occupations, Ed Bohenko, Van Camp Contracting Co., and Bill Bickley, Ohio Contractors Association; Transportation

Occupations, Joe LaFontaine, General Electric; Scientific and Technical, Tom Duvall, PPG, and Jim Eberhart, Container Corporation.

Mechanics and Repairmen, Myron Scheib, H. and S Service, Health Occupations, William Myers, M.D., Ralph Altmeyer, Gayle Green, and Angie Kirchgessner, Berger Hospital; Social Scientists and Social Service, Sylvia Johnson, V. A. Hospital, and Virginia Adkins, Pickaway County Children Services; Art, Design and Communications, Marie Devine, Columbus College of Art and Design, and Betty Peterson, General Telephone Company, Agricultural Careers, George Hamrick, Pickaway County Extension Service.

The general session attended by all students consisted of a panel presentation by: Earl Palm, moderator, Second National Bank; Debbie Jenkins, The Other Place; Bill McKinney, E. I. DuPont; and, Thomas Tootle, Attorney. Chamber of Commerce Executive Secretary Jean Ankrom and Education Committee Chairman Larry Plum assisted in the program planning and by securing consultants.

WHS Class Of 1970 Planning Reunion

Members of the graduating class of 1970 of Westfall High School interested in a 5-year class reunion are asked to contact either Chris Schein, 474-8292, 150 Caroline Court, or Cindy (McKay) Sykes, 993-2789, Route 1, Box 80, Clarksburg.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Kathy found out through a stranger's telephone call that her name and number had been scrawled on the wall of the men's room in a nearby restaurant. Worse, she was described as being available for immoral liaisons.

In short order, Kathy demanded that the owner of the restaurant remove the graffiti from his wall. When he failed to do so, she filed suit against him for defamation of character.

At the trial, the defendant protested that he could not be blamed for what someone else had written. But the court found him liable anyhow. The court said that although he had not brought the defamatory message into being, he had allowed it to continue.

In similar circumstances, most courts have reached a similar result. The owner of the premises is said to have "republished" the libel by letting it stay.

A more elegant variation arose in a private club, where an anonymous wit had posted on the bulletin board a scurrilous poem about one of the members.

The maligned member, outraged because the club manager refused to take the poem down, sued for damages and won. The court said:

"Having the power and the right to remove it, (the manager) elected deliberately to leave it there."

But in a recent case, the graffiti appeared not inside private premises but on the outside of an apartment building—in plain sight of passing pedestrians.

This fact made a big difference, a court ruled afterward in concluding that the building owner could not be blamed for the libel.

Pointing out that he had no control over who read the message, the court said his role in making it public was too minor to justify legal liability.

GROUP EFFORT—The new 4-H horse arena at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds is a total 4-H effort, including labor and materials. After the new fencing is installed, the 4-Hers plan to increase the number of electrical outlets at the arena, add a speaker's stand and bleachers, and, in the future, construct dressing rooms and showers. Additional money needed for the project will be raised in an open horse show June 14.

Court Hears Theft, Burglary Charges

Two youths charged with grand theft and aggravated burglary had their cases come before Juvenile Court Judge Guy G. Cline this past week. Judge Cline sentenced a 15-year-old youth to the permanent care of the Ohio Youth Commission on the charges and transferred the companion case to Franklin County for further disposition.

In other action during the week, the court handled two adult cases, one traffic case, two delinquent cases and placed three dependent children with the Pickaway County Children's Services.

Terry Abernathy, 17, Route 3, Mt. Sterling, appeared on charges of leaving the scene of an accident, driving without a valid operator's license, driving while under the influence of alcohol and violation of probation. Judge Cline fined the boy $50 and suspended his license until his 20th birthday.

A 16-year-old Route 1, Williamsport boy was placed on probation for one year for vandalism. The court also ordered him to make restitution and to pay the court costs.

Ruth Sayre, Ashville, was sentenced to 30 days in the Pickaway County Jail for contributing to the neglect of her child. The court suspended the jail sentence and placed her on indefinite probation.

Similar charges were dismissed against Clyde Sayre, Ashville.

Violation of probation and forgery charges were heard against a 17-year-old, Route 5 boy. He was ordered to serve 20 days of a 60-day detention sentence and was continued on probation. Judge Cline suspended a sentence to the Ohio Youth Commission.

A six-month-old Ashville child was placed in the temporary care of the Children's Services and the parents were ordered to pay the costs. Two Columbus girls, ages eight and nine, were placed in the permanent care of the Children's Services. Two other cases were terminated with the Children's Services.

In final action during the week, the court released one youth from probation and transferred one case to Ross County.

Community Flag Day Plans Mapped

Plans have been nearly completed for the second annual community Flag Day Program, a joint effort of the Elks, VFW, American Legion, Jaycees, Lions, Rotary and Kiwanis. The ceremony is scheduled to begin 7 p.m. June 14 and will again be held on the front steps of the Elks Lodge, 215 N. Court St.

Representatives of the organizations involved met Thursday to finalize the plans. They have yet to secure a main speaker for the event.

The celebration will open with a color guard procession made up of members of the VFW and the Hall Adkins American Legion Post.

Bugler for the event is Fred Tomlinson, a veteran of Vietnam. Introducing of dignitaries will be by Dr. David Goldschmidt, followed by the prayer by Jim Shea representing Kiwanis, "God Bless America" by the Elks singers and the audience, history of the Flag by Joe Tomlinson, representing the Jaycees, the winning VFW essay "Voice of Democracy" by Melinda Seymour, Pledge to the Flag by Bob Hempker representing the VFW, response by Nolan Sims Jr. representing the Lions Club, the main address, Flag burning ritual by the American Legion, VFW and Rotary, Elks Flad Day Ritual, "America The Beautiful" by the Elks singers and "Taps" by Tomlinson.

Commentators Said Powerful

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — John B. Connally, former Treasury secretary and a former Texas governor, says network news commentators hold power and influence in this country second only to that of the President.

Commentators have "more direct impact and potential influence on the public than the speaker of the House of Representatives in Washington, the majority leaders and the minority leaders of both houses of Congress combined," Connally told The Associated Press Broadcasters' national convention on Friday.

Connally, acquitted last month on charges of accepting a milk industry bribe, said he admires the role the media played in the Watergate affair and that he had no personal complaint about coverage of his trial.

He said what the media needs most is in-depth reporting rather than "simplistic remedies which can be catchily delivered in a few sentences."

WINTER COLLECTION—Models sport Bill Blass' lightweight vinyl jacket for men and longer coat for women, part of the fall-winter Blassport collection displayed at New York's Pierre Hotel. Big coats, big shirts and big tunics are the key to the collection.

Berry Delights For Dessert

ADDING beauty and color to our produce markets right now are the bright red, luscious, juicy California strawberries. Enjoy them as is or dipped in confectioners' sugar, or with cream, sweet or sour. But how about a strawberry pie, a really special concoction, worthy of the sweet strawberries, a delicious:

STRAWBERRY CREAM CHEESE PIE
1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese, softened
1/4 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon lemon extract, divided
1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped
9-inch baked pie shell
1-3rd cup firmly packed light brown sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/2 cup water
1-3rd cup grenadine syrup
1 1/2 pints fresh California strawberries halved

Beat cream cheese, brown sugar, vanilla and 1/2 teaspoon lemon extract until smooth and creamy. Fold in whipped cream. Spread evenly over bottom of cooled pie shell. Chill about 1 hour.

Combine the one-third cup brown sugar and cornstarch in saucepan. Slowly stir in water. Add grenadine and remaining 1/2 teaspoon lemon extract.

Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened and clear. Cool. Combine glaze with strawberries and spread over cheese layer. Chill 2 to 3 hours or until glaze is set. It's the berries! a bit of a budget basher, but a treat for a special occasion.

WANT a really good pie shell recipe? Then this:

EGG PIE SHELL
1-3rd cups sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup solid all-vegetable shortening
1 egg, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons cold water
1 teaspoon lemon juice
Combine flour and salt in bowl. Cut in shortening until uniform, but coarse. Combine egg, water and lemon juice. Sprinkle over dry ingredients, tossing and stirring with fork until mixture is moist enough to hold together.

On lightly floured board, roll out pastry 1 1/2 inches larger than inverted 9-inch pie plate. Fit into place; trim 1/2-inch beyond rim of plate, fold under to make double thickness of dough around rim and flute edge. Prick bottom and sides thoroughly with fork. Bake in 425 F. oven 10 to 15 minutes or until browned as desired. Cool on rack.

HOW about a real novelty, a:
STRAWBERRY-PINEAPPLE SUNDAY PIE
1 1/2 pints sliced fresh California strawberries
1 cup chopped fresh pineapple
Sugar
1 quart vanilla ice cream
9-inch baked pie shell
Combine strawberries and pineapple; sweeten to taste with sugar. Chill about 30 minutes. Just before serving, scoop ice cream into cooled pastry shell, covering bottom. Spoon sweetened fruit mixture over ice cream.

TO WIND up this strawberry extravaganza, a sinfully sweet:

STRAWBERRY TOFFEE PIE
1 package (3% ounces) butterscotch pudding and pie filling
2 teaspoons instant coffee powder
1 3/4 cups milk
8-inch baked pastry pie shell
1/2 cup chopped pecans
Light corn syrup
1 pint fresh California strawberries
Prepare pudding mix according to package directions, but add coffee powder and use only 1 3/4 cups milk. Pour into pie shell. Chill at least 4 hours. At serving time, sprinkle filling of pie with pecans. Brush strawberries with corn syrup and arrange in attractive pattern on top of pie.

When you make French toast, try adding a little sugar to the egg-and-milk mixture in which you dip the bread. The addition helps the bread brown well when it is fried.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Play Deaf To Chatty Travelers

DEAR ABBY: I love to travel. I've been in 48 states, Mexico, Canada and the Holy Land. I especially like to travel by bus so I can get a close look at the scenery, but I've reached the point where I would almost rather stay home than get stuck sitting next to some of the folks I've come across on my trips.

Invariably, my seat partner wants to get acquainted in a hurry, so he (or she) starts to tell me his life history. Then out comes the snapshots of the whole family. Some even tell me personal things about their lives, which are of no interest to me. These confessions take hours, and since I will never see these people again, a whole segment of my vacation has been wasted. Usually the bus is full, and I can't move to another seat.

I have tried to escape from these nonstop talkers by burying my nose in a book or pretending to "nap" but then I'm depriving myself of the scenery. I wish I had the courage to say, "Please shut up-you are boring me!" But I am basically a nice person (or coward) and can't do that.

So, Dear Abby, what should I do?

LIKES PEACE AND QUIET

DEAR ABBY: Turn to your seat partner at the beginning of the trip and say, "I hope you're not expecting conversation, because I am hard of hearing. Unless he (or she) knows sign language, you're home free."

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are Mormons who abstain from the use of tobacco, alcohol, coffee and tea.

I am planning a party for my mother, who is visiting me from out of town, and I don't want to serve the above mentioned items. I also don't wish to provide for smokers, even though many of my friends, including my mother are not Mormon.

My mother says it would be a terrible faux pas for me not to serve tea or coffee. She even offered to serve it herself and buy it if it would relieve me of the responsibility of seeming to approve it by having it in my house. I told her I felt that I would be compromising my beliefs.

My question: Is she correct? Or am I?

PUZZLED IN PHOENIX
DEAR ABBY: I am informed that the Church of the Latter Day Saints leaves it up to the individual. The church has no ruling. With so many fine coffee substitutes available, you could surely serve one.

DEAR ABBY: Help! How does a terrible housekeeper learn to keep a reasonably neat house? Don't tell me to force myself to do my housework before my measurable jobs. I saw a lot and do things with my children (like coloring, playing games and working puzzles), but I find myself letting my house work go.

The kids always have clean clothes and good meals, but my house is a wreck! There must be a smooth routine or method in a book somewhere, but I'm too ashamed to ask for it after 10 years of marriage.

HOPELESS IN ILLINOIS

DEAR ABBY: Nobody's hopeless. First, teach your children to hang up their clothes (when they're old enough) and put away their toys before going to bed. Don't eat (or let anyone else eat) anywhere but in the kitchen or dining room. Don't let the children

Circles Combine For Tuesday Meeting

Baseball Imposter Hoodwinked Padres

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — The story Rocky Perone has to tell may make one think there's a reason the San Diego Padres have finished last in the National League each year of their existence.

At 35, Perone donned a hairpiece, passed himself off as a 21-year-old rookie shortstop and was signed by the Padres. The perennial major league cinderella assigned Perone to a minor league team and he actually played in a game before being cut.

"Yeah, it's true," admits Mike Port, San Diego's minor league administrator. "We signed him."

Perone, a construction worker, isn't just an ordinary guy, however. He's a self-proclaimed baseball vagabond who's played minor league or semipro ball every year since he left Lisbon Falls, Me., in 1957. He had always wanted to play in the majors but said, "I was 5-foot-8 and 165 pounds. Scouts don't like my size. If I'd ever been given a chance, I'd have been a Fred Patek-type guy."

Patek is a 5-foot-4 shortstop for Kansas City.

Last year, Perone set out to make the big time despite overwhelming odds.

"I did it to prove a point—that baseball scouts don't know much about baseball prospects."

He was living here, but conceded, "I didn't think I could pull it off in Southern California because too many scouts knew me. So I went to Florida. I started playing in a park league in St. Petersburg and Jim Marshall, the Padres' Florida scout, liked me. He told me he wanted to watch me work out at Florida Southern University. So I did."

"My hair was short so I wore a youthful-looking hairpiece. I told them I was 21. The coach at Florida Southern hit me some grounders and I hit a little bit. He wanted to offer me a scholarship."

"Well, Marshall called me and said he wanted to sign me. So I did."

"I kept getting calls from the Padres. They wanted to watch me work out before one of their games before I was supposed to report to Walla Walla, Wash. I was kind of worried about that because I know a lot of people in baseball who might recognize me."

"But I pulled that off too; I fielded about 60 grounders before a Padre game, went in the locker room, changed my clothes and went home. They still thought I was 21."

List, Hill Pace Golf League Play

Joe List fired a 35 for low gross and Ron Hill had a net 30 to feature play in the Wednesday Night League at Upper Lansdowne.

Team No. 2, Chuck Miller and Mike Seymour, picked up six points to hold on to first place with 22 points.

Team No. 3, Ed and Larry Kraus, gained seven points and are second with 21 points.

Team No. 4, Marty and Owen Fullen; Team No. 5, Mike Kneese and Cliff Nutter; and Team No. 14, Walt Halstenberg and Schuy Arnold, all picked up eight points.

Marty Fullen was closest to the pin on No. 5 and Clark Martin on No. 8.

STILL A TIGER—Robin Martin, former Circleville High School athlete, is a freshman member of the Wittenberg University Tigers' track team. Robin ran the 440 on a team that finished fifth in tough Ohio Conference. Robin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Martin, 428 Glenmont Court.

Super Basketball Conference Studied

CINCINNATI (AP)—The University of Cincinnati and the University of Dayton confirmed they will be represented Monday in Atlanta, Ga. for further talks about creation of a "super" basketball conference.

The University of Louisville, which belongs to the Missouri Valley Conference, said it would not attend, however.

University of Cincinnati Athletic Director Hindman Wall said his school athletic committee was noncommittal but said he personally was encouraged.

Hannah Red Winner

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Baby Su Su is top weighted at 123 pounds and Ken's Princess, 119, today in an 11-horse field in the $15,000-added Myrtlewood Handicap in the eighth race at River Downs.

Hannah Red won the $2,400 feature Friday and paid $3.40, $2.40 and $2.20. Smuggler placed, $4 and $3 and Actin Dizzy, third, $3.40.

Cards Turn Back Reds, 5-4

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Surging Lou Brock may or may not have hit a strike for the St. Louis Cardinals Friday, but it made little difference.

The 35-year-old Brock, swinging a hot bat, made connections with a pitch in the ninth inning and lifted his club to a 5-4 win over the Cincinnati Reds.

"I always believed in the theory that if you see a ball good you should hit it," maintained the unflappable Brock, whose single came with two on and one out.

"It may not even have been a strike," he acknowledged. "Don Hahn told me it was off the plate and low. He said he was amazed at how much wood I got on the baseball."

Brock's hit, his second of the night, settled a struggle the Cards apparently had locked up at 4-2 via Ted Simmons' tworn single until starter John Curtis weakened in the top of the inning.

Curtis, who survived Johnny Bench's two-run homer, afterward stymied two Cincinnati threats and retired Bill Plummer leading off.

Cesar Geronimo, however, solved a Curtis delivery for the Reds' ninth hit and his third and Tony Perez drew a pinchhit walk.

Reliever Al Hrabosky, 2-2, then came on to face Pete Rose and, with the count 1-0, Rose kicked up chalk down the right field foul line with a double that tied the game.

Tall Rawly Eastwick, 0-1, the Reds' fourth pitcher, nailed Ken Reitz on a called third strike before the Cards' set up Brock's winning blow.

Cards shortstop Mario Guerrero laced a single to center, Hahn entered as a pinch-runner and Ron Fairly, pinch-hitting for Hrabosky, duplicated Guerrero's feat.

Eastwick next threw a pitch out of the strike zone before Brock zeroed in on the next offering and slapped it down the left field line out of the reach of the Reds' George Foster.

"It was down and away but my concentration is just to look for the ball, not in terms of where it is over the plate," the left-handed hitting Brock explained. "If it'd been inside, I'd probably have pulled it."

Brock's hits kept alive a .432 batting, siege he has assembled since May 9 and extended St. Louis' win streak to three games while snapping Cincinnati's at seven.

"When he gets hot he just goes and he goes and he goes," Simmons said in respect to his sizzling teammate, the Cards' left fielder, who owns a .346 season's average.

"Good hitters get into streaks where they go 11-for-25 or 14-for-30," Simmons noted. "When Brock gets hot he can go 20-for-40 and do it often."

Rangers Edge Yankees, 6-5

By KEN RAPPOPORT

AP Sports Writer

Roy Howell made a big hit for the Texas Rangers and at the same time struck a blow for unconventional baseball strategy.

Howell knocked in five runs Friday night to lead the Rangers to a 6-5 victory over the New York Yankees—and his last RBI upset the accepted "percentage" rules of the game.

Howell, a left-handed hitter, was allowed to hit against Sparky Lyle, a left-handed pitcher—and came through with the game-winning single in the ninth inning.

That's not done, is it, Billy Martin? "Roy can hit left-handers," said the Texas Ranger manager, who often forsakes the safety of the book. "He showed me that in spring training."

In other American League games, the Minnesota Twins beat the Boston Red Sox 4-3, the Baltimore Orioles blanked the California Angels 5-0 and the Oakland A's turned back the Cleveland Indians 6-2. Two games were rained out—Chicago at Detroit and Kansas City at Milwaukee.

Jeff Burroughs, who hit a home run in the eighth to tie the game 5-5 before Howell's dramatic hit, backed up Martin's thinking. "Roy was swinging the bat well—and let's face it, Billy plays baseball unconventionally."

Howell had two singles before his ninth-inning hit put an end to a six-game losing streak for the Rangers.

Twins 4, Red Sox 3

Run-scoring singles by Tony Oliva and Eric Soderholm in the seventh inning boosted Minnesota over Boston. Oliva ripped a 1-2 pitch from Boston reliever Diego Segui down the right field line to score Rod Carew. Soderholm's single scored Sergio Ferrer, who had stolen second base after going in to run for Oliva.

Orioles 5, Angels 0

Jim Palmer pitched a fourhitter and hurled his fourth shutout of the season, enabling Baltimore to snap a seven-game losing streak with its victory over California.

A's 6, Indians 2

Right-hander Dick Bosman survived a shaky start and scattered seven hits in eight innings as Oakland defeated Cleveland, his former team. Bosman was traded to the A's less than two weeks ago.

Padres Hammer Mets, 6-2

By BRUCE LOWITT

AP Sports Writer

Young Bob Apodaca was facing old Willie McCovey for the first time. Veteran catcher Jerry Grote suggested a breaking pitch. Apodaca opted for a fastball.

"I wanted to get it down and away," he explained.

CRASH!
"Obviously it wasn't down and obviously it wasn't away enough," he explained further.

McCovey's grand-slam home run off Apodaca—the 16th of his career to tie Hank Aaron's National League record—capped San Diego's six-run outburst in the eighth inning that carried the Padres to their 6-2 victory over the New York Mets.

In Friday's other NL results, Pittsburgh edged Atlanta 2-1, Houston blanked Philadelphia 5-0 and St. Louis nipped Cincinnati 5-4. Los Angeles was leading Chicago 3-1 when play was halted by darkness in the eighth inning—to be resumed before today's regularly scheduled game. San Francisco at Montreal was rained out.

"I was looking for an offspeed pitch, not a fastball," McCovey admitted after he parked his fifth homer of the year far beyond the right field wall. "He shook off Grote and that got me confused."

Loser Jerry Koosman had a five-hit shutout going before John Grubb, Enzo Hernandez and Bobby Tolan singled for one run and Dave Winfield doubled to tie it in the eighth. Mike Ivie was intentionally walked to load the bases, Apodaca took over and McCovey, hitting for Fred Kendall, did his thing.

Circleville Piranhas Need More Swimmers

The Circleville "Piranha" Swim Team, defending champions of the Mt. Pleasant Swim League, need additional swimmers as they prepare to resume daily practices for the coming season.

"We are short of swimmers in several age groups," Piranha coach Jim Shea stated. "We need girls age 10 and under, girls age 13-14 and boys in the 9-10, 11-12 and 13-14 age groups. We are in desperate need of swimmers in the girls groups," Shea continued.

Boys and girls interested in becoming a member of the team should report to the pool at Ted Lewis Park 8 p.m. June 2.

Larkin Hanover Wins Scioto Downs Feature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Larkin Hanover scored a threequarter length victory in the featured $8,000 ninth race at Scioto Downs Friday night to pay $15.60, $4.20, and $2.40.

Killbuck Mary was second for $2.60 and $2.20, while Golden Sovereign, the show horse, paid $2.40.

The nightly double combination of My Vi King and Moomaw Lymar, 3-3, was worth $215.40.

The crowd of 7,426 bet $427,844.

Winner Randy Jones, 7-2 this year after a disastrous 8-22 mark last season, had his 19-inning scoreless string snapped in the first when Del Unser hit his fourth homer of the year.

Pirates 2, Braves 1

"I had a pretty good idea I was going to hit for somebody," said Pittsburgh's Ed Kirkpatrick. "It was just a matter of who and at what time."

The who was winning pitcher Jerry Reuss and at what time was in the bottom of the ninth inning, when he lined a twostrike pitch by Buzz Capra into right for the single that beat Atlanta. It scored Richie Hebner, who had batted for Art Howe and doubled to open the ninth for the Pirates.

Astros 5, Phillies 0

Houston's Doug Koniceny got his first major league shutout with a seven-inning at Philadelphia's expense. Astros' catcher Phil Maly drove in three runs with a pair of doubles to lead the offensive charge.

Cardinals 5, Reds 4

Lou Brock's ninth-inning single, following one-out hits by Mario Guerrero and Ron Fairly, carried the Cardinals past Cincinnati after the Reds had tied it in the top of the inning on Pete Rose's two-run double.

Dodgers at Cubs

Don Sutton figures to pick up his ninth victory today, even though he pitched Friday. That's assuming the Dodgers can hold the 3-1 lead they gave him.

The game will resume with Chicago batting in the bottom of the eighth against "reliever" Andy Messersmith. "I can't think of anybody better under the circumstances with a tworn lead and two innings to go," said Dodger Manager Walt Alston. "Andy will also pitch the regular game."

The Dodgers broke a 1-1 tie in the fifth Friday on Dave Lopes' homer and added a run in the sixth on a double by Steve Garvey and a single by Ivan de Jesus.

Shot Put Record Set By Dienhart

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mark Dienhart wouldn't have set the NCAA Division III shot put record Friday if he hadn't missed baseball practice eight years ago.

Dienhart, a 21-year-old senior at St. Thomas College in St. Paul, Minnesota, threw the shot 57-3½, breaking the old mark of 55-10¼ set by Steve Lindgren of Hamline last year, during the first Division III national competition.

This year's competition is being held at Baldwin-Wallace College.

"We had one of those coaches at my high school that felt if you didn't make the first practice you didn't make the team," Dienhart said. "So I went out for another sport and it was track."

GETS HER LETTERS—Jan Nicholas, 18, of Lansing, Mich., finally got her letters for tennis from Waverly High School, but it took a court suit to do it. The tennis coach refused to give her the letters claiming she missed some practices, missed one match and was sometimes disobedient, inconsiderate and unsportsmanlike.

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): A sense of responsibility and pluck will be needed now. Situations may not work out as expected. Don't panic; step cautiously, knowingly.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): This day should turn out satisfactorily if you are master of your emotions under all circumstances. Especially favored: travel and outdoor interests.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Bow to the demands of the immediate present until you have time to really plan a new and more profitable course. Sharpen your fine mental gifts.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Take unusual situations in a philosophical way and whatever surprises there are will show their advantageous side quickly. Only the pessimist sees the gloomy side.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): What is significant to you may not be to others, so be careful how you express your views and don't PRESS for results.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Don't anticipate problems. Study, think, act in a careful manner. Mixed influences prevail, so be mindful. Avoid gossips and rumor-mongers.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Day should prove stimulating in many ways, many areas. One of your more casual interests will now take on added importance.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Do not be deceived by high-sounding promises. Study persons and situations with your usual keen perception, then act as your best judgment dictates.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Keep emotions under control and do not make drastic or needless changes on the spur of the moment. Be especially careful in romantic involvements.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): A day for listening! Something hinted at will be of more importance than what is actually said; may put your thoughts on an entirely new track.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): A bit of daring could pay off now. Don't hesitate to try unique ideas, methods. You're thinking along the right lines.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Objectivity and a strong sense of realism needed. Don't look for much cooperation from others and don't count on luck to help you hurdle possible barriers to your goals.

YOU BORN TODAY are extremely versatile and can build a luminous career in any one of many fields; could even take an avocation highly remunerative. Your individualism is outstanding and you have the ability to attract people to you on sight. You love travel for its own sake; could, therefore, succeed in any line which involves both travelling and dealing with great numbers of persons. You are endowed with a remarkably retentive memory and would make a most successful journalist or writer on almost any subject. Other fields in which you could shine: music, the stage (as actor, playwright or director), aviation or any of the communication media. Birthdate of: Brigham Young, leader of the Mormons; John Masfield, Eng. poet laureate, novelist, playwright; Marilyn Monroe, film star; Pat Boone, pop singer.

Computer Talks Back

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A direct telephone line to a computer with a simulated human voice is being used by a buildings products firm to cut time in figuring energy and fuel cost savings in planning new industrial and commercial construction projects.

"The 'talking computer' is the first of its kind to be used in this fashion," says Fred Purtil, vice president and general manager of Owens-Corning Fiberglas's Architectural Products Division. "It is called the Energy Management System line, and is the newest part of our on-going program to promote the need for energy conservation among architects, engineers, building owners and the general public."

When the call is made, the caller will be greeted by the computer's simulated human voice. The voice then asks various questions dealing with the installation's size, location, fuel system, type of roof and insulation. The caller "answers" these questions by pushing predetermined digits on a touch-tone dialing panel.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
